Using Google Scholar

You are able to access articles that are part of the Library’s subscriptions through Google Scholar. On campus, this happens automatically.

Time diary and questionnaire assessment of factors associated with academic and personal success among university undergraduates
D George, S Dixon, E Stansal, SL Gelb... - Journal of American ... 2008 - Taylor & Francis Objective and Participants: A sample of 231 students attending a private liberal arts university in central Alberta, Canada, completed a 5-day time diary and a 71-item questionnaire assessing the influence of personal, cognitive, and attitudinal factors on ...
☆ 99 Cited by 147 Related articles All 8 versions Web of Science: 31

Student success in university education: A multi-measurement study of the impact of student and faculty factors on study progress
MN Van den Berg, WHA Hofman - Higher education, 2005 - Springer
This study focuses on the factors that determine study progress and numerical success rate in higher education. Study progress is influenced at three levels, namely the student level, course/institute level and government level. It is expected that various groups of economic ...☆ 99 Cited by 151 Related articles All 9 versions Web of Science: 62

Not on campus? See the following slides for a step-by-step guide.
Google Scholar

Settings

Search results
Languages
Library links
Account
Button

Show library access links for (choose up to five libraries):

London South Bank University

e.g., Harvard

☑ London South Bank University - Full-Text @ LSBU
☑ Open WorldCat - Library Search

Online access to library subscriptions is usually restricted to patrons of that library. You may need to login with your library password, use a campus computer, or configure your browser to use a library proxy. Please visit your library’s website or ask a local librarian for assistance.

Save

To retain settings, you must turn on cookies